

Political acculturation: a general appraisal with a case study

Author'(s): Ishumi, Abel G.M.

Abstract

The relationship between politics and education as examined in 1971 in a survey of a few randomly selected schools in Tanzania. Students and teachers were asked for a definition of political education (newly introduced as a school subject), their opinions on the content of the discipline and the teachers' attitudes towards political education. Notes.

Keywords: acculturation, general, appraisal