Economic Liberalization and its effect on the Exploitation of Crustaceans in Tanzania

Authors: Lokina Razack B.; Andersson J.

Abstract

A brief analysis is made of the mostly new activity of lobster fishing in Tanzania over the period 1988 to 1996, which includes both traditional and commercial fishing. The major aspects discussed are the current over-exploitation, and demand (including the 'tourist variable').

Keywords: Economic Liberalization; effect; Exploitation; Crustacean, Tanzania